

David Gilbert

ANTI-IMPERIALIST PRISONER

imprisoned since 1981

American radical organizer, author and prisoner David Gilbert was a founding member of Columbia University SDS (Students for a Democratic Society) and member of The Weather Underground Organization. After eleven years underground, he was arrested with members of the Black Liberation Army and other radicals following a botched armored car robbery in 1981. Davis Gilbert co-founded an inmate peer education program on HIV and AIDS in the Auburn Correctional Facility in 1987, and a similar more successful project in Great Meadows Prison in Comstock following his transfer there. He has also published several books and articles.

“Patriarchy, imperialism, white supremacy, class exploitation and environmental havoc intersect and reinforce each other in many ways, but cannot be reduced to any one of them.”
